Photo/prt scrn (if relevant)	Last week, Vilnius, Lithuania, became a hub for social innovation as the European Social Fund Agency together with the European Competence Centre for Social Innovation hosted the NCC Mutual Learning Event (March 4-6, 2025). We met social innovators, passionate changemakers, and National Competence Centres (NCCs) for social innovation from across Europe for three days. We shared insights, challenges, and inspiring examples of how social innovation shapes communities across the EU. Our Jelena Pavlović, National Coordinator of the National Competence Centre on Social Innovation in Croatia, took the stage to present Croatia's state of the art in social innovation. She shared our opportunities and challenges with fellow NCCs, contributing to the discussion on how to strengthen transnational collaboration and support impactful initiatives. Some of the key topics we explored: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ● AI & digital tools – their role in tackling societal challenges and the risks involved ● Best practices from Lithuania – what we can all learn from social innovation case studies ● Cross-border collaboration – how we can work together to maximize impact across the EU We are happy to be part of this Cop on Social Innovation and the SEED2SCALE consortium, alongside our partners from Italy, Greece, Slovenia, and Romania. Together we are working to accelerate social change through innovation, collaboration, and digital transformation. Although Croatia faces its challenges and we are still at an early stage of prioritizing social innovation, we remain optimistic about our next steps.

Photo/prt scrn (if relevant)	We are pleased that the Croatian National Competence Centre for Social Innovation participated in the inspiring discussions at the consolidated Social Innovation Festival on June 20th in Bucharest, as part of the SEED2SCALE project. ACT Group team member Danijela Paška, as a representative of the Croatian National Competence Center for Social Innovation, joined the panel "Ecosystem Building & Social Impact: The Why and the How Behind Systemic Change" together with excellent colleagues Gianluca Salvatori (Italy), Marianna Konyrdova (Greece) and Tadej Šušteršič (Slovenia), with valuable contributions from ESFA (Lithuania), under the skilful moderation of Raluca Privescu (CE). Together, we explored some of the most pressing questions for the future of social innovation in Europe: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ❑ What do we need to move from isolated social economy initiatives to a more unified European movement? ❑ How do we see the role of youth and next-generation leaders in shaping the future of social innovation and the social economy? ❑ How can the private sector engage in social innovation - and what good practices can we share from our national ecosystems? ❑ And, how can insights from our countries help improve innovation and move up on the European innovation scoreboard? Although we shared some challenges from our countries and at the EU level, it is important to stay optimistic and continue building strong ecosystems together. Our commitment shared during this panel was a strong reminder that building inclusive and resilient ecosystems is the key to driving systemic change - locally, nationally and across Europe. A big thank you to Raluca Privescu and our Romanian partners for hosting us in Bucharest and for inviting us on stage. Last but not least, a big thank you to the European Social Fund Agency representative for taking the floor with us and supporting our NCCs! PS. If you're interested in hearing what we shared as the Croatian example and how we view the social innovation ecosystem, feel free to reach out - we'd love to continue the conversation!

Photo/prt scrn (if relevant)	 ACT Grupa Zadnja dva dana družimo se u Malmö (Švedska) na GoP susretu nacionalnih kompetencijskih centara (NCC) u okviru EU. Kao SEED2SCALE partneri i koordinator hrvatskog Centra kompetencija za društvene inovacije, sastali smo se s drugim kolegama predstavnicima drugih NCC-a iz cijele Europe. Cilj nam je razmijeniti iskustva, otkriti suradnje i zajedno kreirati nove putove za društvene inovacije na razini EU. Dva dana je produktivan prvi dan tijekom kojeg smo raspravljali o ulozi akademskog sektora i znanosti u poticanju društvenih inovacija, a dotaknuli smo se i aktualne teme umjetne inteligencije i tehnološkog neravna. Kao i uvijek na ovakvim susretima, vodimo istražiti lokalne primjere dobre prakse, pa smo i posjetili četiri primjera lokalnih inicijativa: -MFF in Society – Malmö nogometni klub koristi snagu sporta za borbu protiv rasizma, promicanje integracije i obrazovanje onih koji se osiromašuju. -Kraftsming Herrgården – Savez različitih sektora u kvartu Herrgården okuplja udruge, javne i privatne aktere te akademsku zajednicu kako bi se bavili izazovima zapošljavanja, stanovanja i psihološkoga dobrobiti. -Social Innovation Center South – Regionalna platforma u Škåneu smanjuje nezaposlenost i socijalnu isključenost koristeći inovacijske potencijale civilnog društva i gradski dugoročne strukture. -Botstienborg – Nagradivana urbana ferma i društveni centar koji povezuje hranu, usvoj i zajednicu kako bi postiglo otpornost i inkluziju. Drugi dan još traje! Nastavljamo s raspravama o ulozi društvenih inovacija i kako potaknuti sustavnu promjenu u našim društvima. Zalito nam je ovo vrijeme Društvene inovacije ključne su za odabiranje društvenih izazova i društvenih bionima, našeg vremena, nepredviđeni, uključujući, nezaposlenost, zdravstvena kriza, urbanih tehnoloških promjena koje oblikuju naša društva. Za Hrvatsku je to posebno važno jer već mnogo inovativna koji potekaju promjene, ali je potrebno da svoj razvoj podijelimo na višu razinu. Povezivanjem različitih sektora i dionika možemo stvoriti snažniji ekosustav i razviti sistemska djelanja za navedena izazova i kopirna se Hrvatske sudara.

ESSI brings together people across Europe who believe that innovation should create real value for society — putting communities and wellbeing ahead of technology and profit. It promotes a holistic approach to social innovation, combining reflection, research, and hands-on action. Why this matters to us — and to Croatia: ESSI encourages a progressive, systemic understanding of social innovation, focused on justice, inclusion, sustainability, and real social needs. We're joining a strong European network of experts and organisations shaping the future of social innovation. In a time of rapid digitalisation, AI and Industry 5.0, this partnership helps us advocate for innovation that keeps the human, social and environmental impact at the centre. This membership strengthens the work of our newly founded Centar kompetencija za društvene inovacije (Centre of Competence for Social Innovation), and builds on our role in the SEED2Scale project as part of the European Competence Centre for Social Innovation. We're keeping on supporting innovative solutions that tackle societal challenges and address real social needs here in Croatia.'
